

A MATCH MADE IN HEAVEN CTE CHARTER SCHOOLS

Once one of the most disparaged forms of education in the U.S., career and technical education has emerged in recent years as one of the most promising approaches to preparing students for the future. Charter schools are uniquely well positioned to deliver on the promise – less rule-bound and more flexible, they often find it easier to engage employers, hire industry-trained teachers and schedule work-based learning. Educators and policy experts shared their perspectives.

PANELISTS

KRISTIN KEARNS-JORDAN, Urban Assembly
MICHAEL PETRILLI, Thomas B. Fordham Institute
YVES SAMAKE, Ritz Carlton Hotels
TORI STEPHENS-SHAUGER, Ace Leadership High School
Moderated by TAMAR JACOBY, Opportunity America

Opportunity America is a Washington-based nonprofit promoting economic mobility – work, skills, careers, ownership and entrepreneurship for poor and working Americans. The organization’s principal activities are research, policy development, dissemination of policy ideas and working to build consensus around policy proposals.