

OPPORTUNITY AMERICA

KENTUCKY FAME SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

EDWARD ALDEN

Edward Alden is the Bernard L. Schwartz senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations and a visiting professor at Western Washington University. He is the author of Failure to Adjust: How Americans Got Left Behind in the Global Economy and coauthor of How America Stacks Up: Economic Competitiveness and US Policy. He was previously the Washington bureau chief for the Financial Times.

JAMES ATKINSON

James Atkinson is the senior technical manufacturing trainer for GE Appliances in Louisville, Kentucky, where he oversees technical training and postsecondary education programs and manages two maintenance apprenticeship programs, including FAME. He previously held positions at Ford Motor Company, UPS and the University of Louisville. He currently serves as the president of the KYFAME Greater Louisville chapter.

GARDNER CARRICK

Gardner Carrick is vice president of strategic initiatives for The Manufacturing Institute at the National Association of Manufacturers. Prior to joining the Institute, he worked at the US Department of Labor's Employment and Training Administration where he was communications director and project director for an initiative focused on regional talent development.

RON HASKINS

Ron Haskins is senior fellow emeritus in economic studies at the Brookings Institution, where he previously co-directed the Center on Children and Families and served as a senior consultant to the Annie E. Casey Foundation. He spent 14 years on the staff of the House Ways and Means Committee and served as President George W. Bush's senior advisor for welfare policy.

TAMAR JACOBY

Tamar Jacoby is president of Opportunity America. A former journalist and author, she was a senior writer and justice editor at Newsweek and, before that, the deputy editor of the New York Times op-ed page. She is the author of Someone Else's House: America's Unfinished Struggle for Integration and editor of This Way Up: New Thinking About Poverty and Economic Mobility.

ROBERT LERMAN

Robert Lerman is an institute fellow at the Urban Institute, professor emeritus of economics at American University and a research fellow at IZA in Bonn, Germany. Previously a staff economist for the Congressional Joint Economic Committee and the US Department of Labor, he recently founded the American Institute for Innovative Apprenticeship.

JAMES MCCASLIN

James McCaslin is the provost at Southcentral Kentucky Community and Technical College. He chairs United Way of Southern Kentucky's College and Career Readiness team and just completed two terms on the South Central Workforce Development Board.

AUDREY WEBB

Audrey Webb is the Alabama Advanced Manufacturing Apprenticeship Program (ALAMAP) project director at the Alabama Community College System (ACCS). Before joining ACCS, she served as an electronic engineering instructor at Gadsden State Community College, and before that, she worked as a manufacturing industry project engineer.